Introduction to the diverse ecosystems along the Oregon coast. Field trips and laboratory exercises will provide broad exposure to sandy beaches, dunes, rocky intertidal, subtidal, and estuarine habitats. Focus will be on the biology and ecology of resident organisms and their interactions, as well as the importance of these ecosystems to coastal communities.